DEDICATED TO

L. G. KENNAMER, A. B., B. S., M. A., Ph. D.

As a means of showing our appreciation for the high services rendered to us as individuals, to our class, and to our college, we dedicate this the 1934 Milestone.

THE EASTERN
KENTUCKY STATE
TEACHERS COLLEGE

RICHMOND, KENTUCKY

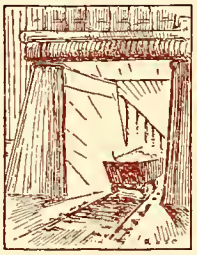
PROL

In the compilation of this book we have striven to retain something very near to our hearts—memories of the rich mine from which we drew golden treasures.

These treasures, too intangible to define, are those things from which we have drawn inspiration to overcome many obstacles and difficulties.

We cannot feel so deeply now what this book means to us, but in the days to follow, in hours of quietness, we shall find its pages a storehouse of beautiful memories.

Let us count over some of the treasures so invaluable to us which this book brings to mind. Perhaps friendship is the most precious gold nugget we have dug from the mine. It has been said that friendship is the state of the just dealing with the just, the magnanimous with the magnanimous, the sincere with the sincere. Friendship is all important in the education of men. It will make a man honest; it will make him a hero; it will make him a saint. It is easy to say how we love friends and what we think of them, but words can never trace all the fibres that knit us to the old.



Turning the pages of this book we realize as we look upon the faces of those friends of our college days that friendship does not spring up and become perfect at once but requires the nourishment of time and thought. Though we will travel different paths there will be locked away in a secret chamber of our heart those "little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love."

The miner's drill goes deeper, until at last it uncovers a bit of gold whose brilliance and glitter dims our eyesight. It is knowledge. Like a jewel gleaming in the darkness it has lighted our paths through the years and has pierced the curtain of ignorance and superstition that shadowed our minds.

What has it meant to us? It has set aflame deep in our souls the spark that demands the best things life has to offer; it has set us reaching for objects that once seemed very far in the distance; it has given us courage—courage for the great sorrows of life, and patience for the small ones; it has ennobled our souls so that we are able to rise stronger from disaster and defeat.

OGUE

Desire for knowledge, like the thirst for riches, increases with the acquisition of it. The mind of man is improved by learning and reflection. We place a happy life in tranquility of mind. We should not be contented with insignificance if we are able to hew our way to better things.

From this abundant source comes another nugget of gleaming yellow. This is service to our fellowmen. A man's true wealth is the good that he does to his fellows. Everyone must realize when he enters an institution of learning that he must serve. This means not only physical service but also service with the heart and mind. There are many ways in which we have served. Some served gladly, others grumblingly. In college we learned to offer our service where it would be the most useful and to make an effort to do our best.

The art of serving was brought out in our clubs and organizations. We learned to do our part, and we yielded ourselves to the making of a perfect whole whether on the football field or on the stage.

"All are needed by each one; Nothing is fair or good alone."

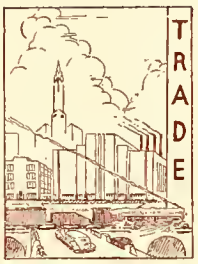
And so we present to you the Milestone of 1934 hoping that it, in years to come, may bring back to you memories of the college where you made friends, received knowledge and learned to serve.

" . . . this thread of gold,
We would not have it tarnish; let us turn
Oft and look back upon the wondrous web,
And when it shineth, sometimes we shall know
That memory is possession."

EASTERN AND RICHMOND

Eastern's greatest contribution to Richmond is the opportunity it affords our young people to obtain a high class education. Here, any boy or girl, regardless of wealth or lack of it, may obtain a good education at a minimum expense. No Richmond boy or girl, with the slightest degree of ambition, need lack a college education.

Eastern with its curricula of arts and science, adds to the cultural tone of our city. Association with the splendid corps of teachers in the school develops our cultural education and brings to the fore the better things in life and living. Learned, well written articles, prepared by Eastern faculty members and published in current periodicals, scholarly addresses made by Eastern faculty members in many parts of the county, all attract favorable attention to our city.



Eastern brings to our city a high type of citizen. The fine young men and women who attend our school and the men and women of the faculty are a credit to our city.

And in business, Eastern adds much to our community. With a plant worth a million dollars, with a large corps of teachers and instructors, and with a large student body constantly in residence in Richmond, many hundreds of thousands of dollars pour into the coffers of our merchants and citizens. Richmond's stores are better than the stores in the average town our size because of Eastern. Our merchants appreciate greatly the cordial relations that exist between them and the faculty and student body of our school.

Through its splendid athletic teams, Eastern brings favorable publicity to our city in each sport season.

All in all, Eastern means much to Richmond. Our city is fortunate to be the seat of such a school.

FRANK H. SHAFFER, Secretary,

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Faithful guide of youth,
Holding high amid the darkness
Duty, light, and truth;

Still above, the skies attend thee,
Still thy stately columns stand.

Still thy sons and daughters love thee,
Sing thy praises o'er the land.

All the earth's resplendent beauty
Nature gathered here,

Rolling lawns and trees and grasses
On thy hillsides fair;

Happy days within thy shadow,
Friends and comrades we have won,

For thy work so nobly done.

Auf Wiedersehen

Seven years ago a Lone Eagle rose from Roosevelt Field to soar through the boundless sky to Paris. That flight is history. Four years ago four hundred freshmen, individually and collectively, set out on an equally perilous journey through equally uncharted seas.

The caravan which will be given diplomas is made up of those who matriculated four years ago and recruits from caravans which started the arduous journey earlier. Our happiness is tinged with pathos when we think of those who had been stranded along the way. The details of the college career of those who continued are as commonplace as they are unexciting, so that it is somewhat absurd to write a history of this class. Not now, but fifty years hence the history of this class must be written.

It is not hard to imagine what our history as a class has been. Graduated from the secondary schools in an era when commencement speakers were telling fond parents and conceited graduates that we were just entering a Golden Age, we came to college to realize that we were in the midst of economic disaster. Then the cynic began to tell us that the end of civilization was nigh. May it be said to our everlasting credit that we learned to scorn the sullen pessimist as we had formerly learned to look with disdain on the blatant optimist. But in many ways we are very fortunate. We are the first class to graduate in a new era. Adversity has caused reflection and today we are better prepared for the problems which confront us.

At all times our class has been in the forefront of things. It has held high the banner of leadership and fearlessness in campus activities; it has revered the traditions handed down by other classes when these traditions were considered good, and disregarded them with contempt when they were found deficient.

We sing no swan song; rather ours is a dawn song. The steel of our personalities having been properly tempered, it must now be sent to the stone to be sharpened.

Yet it is with sincerest regrets that we must now say, "Auf Wiedersehen."

The Class of '35

The time is 1975, the place is a "waystation" near the western end of the highway of life, and the words that we are about to read are the reminiscences of a former student of Eastern State Teachers College. The subject of his day dream is "My classmates and I during our first three years at Eastern".

We entered Eastern September 18, 1931 with 415 in our ranks. In number we were superior, but the sophomores, juniors, and seniors soon convinced us that quality often outweighs quantity. After a year of orientation by a group of humiliating upperclassmen, most of us, under the leadership of Jack Allen, president; Dorothy Tyng, vice-president; Ed Hill, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Noel B. Cuff, class adviser, emerged full-fledged college students.

We returned to Eastern the next year, 1932. Though our class was somewhat reduced in number, we set about to show the juniors and seniors that something good could come from a bunch of freshmen. Our first step toward that goal was to elect Sam Beckley, president; Homer Robbins, vice-president; Lloyd Dykes, treasurer; and Elizabeth Clouse, secretary. Dr. Thomas C. Herndon was our class adviser. As a result of our determination to make good, several of our members became outstanding in campus activities. We contributed material to the football and basketball squads, one of our number being elected captain of the former. We also offered the first co-ed editor of the Eastern Progress.

The second year passed and soon we were back on the campus organizing our class for the third time. To continue our march of progress we selected Claybourne Stephens, president; Homer Robbins, vice-president; Dorothy Tyng, secretary; and Fay White, treasurer. Mrs. Mary E. Barnhill was class adviser.

Being loyal to tradition, we entertained the seniors at the Annual Junior Prom, which was the outstanding social event of the year. Those of our number who had launched into varsity athletics during their sophomore year grew in favor with their coaches, the students, and their fellow team mates. The scholastic record of our class was one of which we were proud.

Hush! it is too late; our day dreamer has awakened. The Junior Class must work together for one more year before its class history can be completed.

The Class of '36

Under the intelligent leadership of Dr. T. C. Herndon and the above mentioned officers, we, the Sophomore Class, have come to the end of another successful year at Eastern.

We came to Eastern as freshmen in the fall of 1932. During that year we buried our pride and bore nobly the taunts from the upper classmen, knowing that the day would come when we too might chide the frosh of the school. Many of us joined the clubs of the campus most closely connected with our work and our interests, and for which we put forth our best efforts. At first we were treated with indifference, as are all freshmen, but later we were recognized and welcomed as capable leaders.

We came back in 1933 to resume our studies and to take upon our shoulders the responsibilities of college life for which some are so well fitted. Such leading organizations as the Madrigal Club and Little Theatre Club have chosen their leaders from the class of '36. We were respresented exceptionally well in the oratorical contest sponsored by the college. We are proud to say that one of our most charming members was chosen "Miss Popularity".

Some of us will receive our certificates this year and will go out to take up our work as teachers in our beloved state; some will leave us for other important reasons; many of us will continue our work at Eastern for two more years. We feel a strong attachment for the members of our class, and we are sad that some must leave us and the college from which they have derived such joy and happiness.

"All that's height must fade.
The heightest still the fleetest;
All that's sweet was made
But to be last when sweetest"

Freshman Class '33

The morning of September 20, 1933, found three hundred eighty-seven greenies expectantly trodding the famed soil of Eastern's campus. Not really greenies, but branded that title by sophisticated upperclassmen. (Curses on those oppressive "higher ups". They gave us more trouble the first few weeks of school than did any other one source.)

Our ignorance proved to be a happy hunting ground of amusement for the shallow minded sophomores. Being unacquainted, disorganized, and unfamiliar to our new surroundings and to our brother unfortunates, we staggered under the embarrassing blows dealt by those who wielded the weapon of higher intelligence. But you can't fool all the people all the time, neither can you fool all the freshmen. Some of them realized that upperclass authority was a jinx and acted accordingly, which proved detrimental to the dignities of several sophomores. The cool water of the lily pond, and its inhabitants, the gold fish, proved inviting hostesses to upperclassmen as well as freshmen. Such conditions characterized the first few weeks of school and led to misunderstandings and friction.

It was not long, however, before we began to get accustomed to our new routine. Just what to expect and just what was expected of us we soon learned, and, as a reply, we accepted our privileges, shouldered our responsibilities, and made, during the fall semester, a record of which our fellow classmen may be justly proud.

But now, all grudge we have held against our supposedly intellectual superiors we lay aside, and in its place we substitute an eager willingness to cooperate with them to the fullest extent to attain in our supreme objective—success in all scholastic undertakings.

DANIEL BOONE 1734-1934

The Class of 1934 recognizes the Bicentennial of the birth of Daniel Boone. The Daniel Boone Bicentennial Commission, initiated by a member of Eastern's history staff and created by the 1934 session of the Kentucky Legislature, has planned a worthy celebration in honor of the Great Pioneer. Eastern is fortunate in being located so near Boonesborough where Boone performed his greatest service for Kentucky and the nation.

Varsity Football

The Big Maroons of Eastern had a successful season in 1933 even though they played the outstanding football elevens of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Although the score books do not look so impressive in relation to high scores, the fact that the entire regular team was made up of sophomores and juniors makes the record seem highly satisfactory to all concerned.

Even though the record was not extremely impressive, the Maroons compiled one of the most unique set-ups in the history of football at Eastern. In the first three games of the season with Union, Georgetown, and East Tennessee, the final outcome of each of the tilts was a deadlock between the Maroon eleven and the opponent. Then our boys lost a hard game to Transylvania in a fracas filled with thrills and mud galore. Traveling to Morehead the next week, the Maroons made the Eagles bow to the on-rushing sweep of the Eastern team. The following week found our boys beaten by a desperate, fighting team of Louisville in one of the most hectic games seen in many a day.

Eastern should have one of the most formidable clubs in the state next year as only Derbert Merenbloom, James Burnette, and Talmadge DeWitt are lost to the squad. While Coach Hughes will miss these boys tremendously, he hopes to find men from the freshman squad to fill their shoes. Coach Tom Samuel's line this past year gained the reputation of being one of the hardest aggregations to be penetrated by opposing backs in Kentucky, and it is to the boys on the line that Eastern owes its success on the gridiron. The line consisted of such men as Captain Lloyd Dykes, Michael Morris, and Roy Pille, ends; Richard Greenwell and Paul Tierney, tackles; J. T. Hinkle, Clifford Schulte, and Talmadge DeWitt, guards; and Ernest Young, center. While the backfield was not as outstanding as the line it also contained some very valuable men. Homer Robbins, Edward Hill, Roy Gover, Derbert Merenbloom, Marshall Robinson, Thomas Scott, and James Burnette were the best looking backs on Coach Hughes' staff.

So with a hard schedule staring them in the face, Eastern's by-word next year will be "Watch us go".

Freshman Football

Eastern is proud of her freshman football team this year, and rightly so, for the freshman gridders of '33 were one of the best freshman aggregations ever to represent the Maroon and White. The team was made up of former high school players together with men new to the game who made up in fight and determination what they lacked in actual experience.

Coach Al Portwood is to be congratulated on the fine showing his boys made for the cause of football at Eastern. Coach Portwood has the hardest job of all the coaching positions at Eastern, as he must take his varied type of material, teach it the fundamentals of college football and then whip it into an aggregation that plays as if it had played together for years.

The Little Maroons broke even on the season by winning two tilts and losing a like number of contests. They first traveled to Georgetown where they met the greatest freshman football team ever to represent the Scott county school. Inexperience caused our boys to allow the Cubs to account for twenty-five points the first half, but the Eastern lads rose in all their might and held the much larger Georgetown squad scoreless the rest of the encounter. At Centre, the next week, one play beat the Baby Maroons in a heart-breaking game. With the score at a seven-seven standstill and the Eastern team on the Centre three yard line, after having pushed the much heavier Centre men all over the field, a lateral pass was accidently received by a lone Centre back who proceeded down the field for a touchdown and completely broke the morale of the Maroon team. But with these experiences and tough breaks behind them, the Eastern youngsters took the remaining two tilts by running wild over the Morehead and Transylvania frosh elevens.

The freshmen should produce the outstanding men of Eastern's varsity eleven next year, for they really have the material coming up. Probably the most promising man on the squad was Murray Smith, quarterback, who is one of the classiest passers, punters and drop-kickers the coaching staff has ever seen. Little Joe Hedges, one of the speediest men in school, will be looked upon to show his wares for the varsity in the way of elusive running. Bob Mavity also showed great promise of becoming a varsity mainstay as he demonstrated ability as a line plunger and blocker on the frosh eleven. Linemen such as Fulkerson, Edgington, Pennington, Yates, Bryant, and Stevenson gave notice that they will be after regular berths on the varsity line next year by their stellar play as freshmen. Yes, football prospects at Eastern are very bright and we all hope that the freshmen keep up their good work next fall.

Varsity Basketball

Eastern was not represented by the state S. I. A. A. champions this year, but Coach Turkey Hughes managed to put a team on the floor that was poison to most of its opponents and feared by all. Coach Hughes had to take fresh sophomore material and insert it in the positions vacated by the graduates of last years team. This is no easy task for any coach, but the team Coach Hughes put on the floor was nothing anyone could be ashamed of. The Big Maroons finished fourth in the S. I. A. A. standings, as they took six victories and lost a like number.

In several games this season the Maroons looked almost invincible, and, if they had continued playing that sort of ball all season, they would undoubtedly have been the state champs again. This was true especially in the Berea and Western games played at Richmond.

T. C. McDaniel, pivot-man for the varsity, was the only senior on the squad and the most outstanding player on the team. McDaniel was the highest individual scorer on the squad and was Coach Hughes' selection for acting captain in all of the contests played this season.

Little Hale was perhaps the most phenominal of all Eastern's cohorts with his peculiar one-hand shot, and his feats with a basketball were the high lights of many a game played by the Maroons. He climbed the ladder of fame in this year's battle with Berea at the Weaver gym. by turning a certain defeat into an Eastern victory almost single-handedly.

The sophomore class was represented by Roy Gover, Tommy Scott, Richman Collins, and Ben Ashmore, who all played consistent basketball for the Maroons throughout the schedule. James Allen, a junior, turned out to be one of the team's mainstays toward the end of the year and will be looked upon to do great things next season, along with the afore-mentioned sophomores.

Eastern can look for bigger and better basketball teams from now on, but the forth-coming teams will have to go some to prove better than the teams Eastern has been offering in the past.
